

Director of FTC's Bureau of Consumer Protection, Andrew Smith, to be Keynote Speaker at 2020 CDIA Law & Industry Conference

CDIA is pleased to announce Andrew Smith, Director of the Federal Trade Commission's (FTC) Bureau of Consumer Protection, will be a featured keynote speaker at the 2020 CDIA Law & Industry Conference on June 17 in Washington, DC. Smith will address the FTC's privacy priorities in his remarks, and elaborate on the Commission's recent update and improvement of its data security orders.

"The Bureau of Consumer Protection at the FTC oversees large swaths of the consumer reporting industry, and we are honored to have its Director join us," said Francis Creighton, CDIA President & CEO. "There is no one in the entire government who understands the industry and consumers' needs more than Andrew Smith, and I'm sure our attendees will learn a lot from his presentation."

REGISTER TODAY TO SECURE YOUR SPOT AT THIS MUST-ATTEND EVENT!

Attendees of the CDIA Law & Industry Conference will gain a lot from this year's agenda, comprised of insightful, interactive sessions exploring the future of consumer reporting amid shifts in legislation, innovations in technology and evolving sources of consumer data.

For more information, and/or to register, please visit the 2020 CDIA Law & Industry Conference page, or contact us at CDIA_Training@cdiaonline.org.

CDIA looks forward to seeing you there and encourages you to share this invitation with others in your company who may benefit from attending this event.

To view CDIA's attendance policy, please click here.